SAM SNOW RETAINED PLANNING BOARD WANTS PROFESSIONAL HELP

After a long and protracted debate, Tuesday night, the Wilmington Planning Board, by a split vote, voted to hire a professional planner just for the purpose of putting things into perspective.

The person, or firm, to be hired, will do no planning as such for Wilmington, but will review the many programs that have been suggested over the past few years, and put them into order, or perspective, for other planners to develop.

Several motions were made during the debate, all of which were voted down until finally a motion by James Miceli was voted, 3 to 1.

Chairman Austin Rounds warned the members, several times, that the Planning Board, now that it has some money, should go into the next annual town meeting with mediately, to perform the necessary projects as assigned by the Planning Board. The vote was unanimous.

Bob Evans

Bob Evans stayed away from the meeting, but the lady who had been appointed in his place, by former Town Manager Bouchard was, as customary, present, in her role as an observer for the League of Women Voters.

She did absent herself from the tea-paneled room, while the board discussed her status and that of Mr. Evans.

Rounds and Gillis reported that the Town Counsel, by telephone, had advised that the former Town Manager did not, in effect, remove Evans from the board, and that During the meeting, the Board was embarrassed several times by a lack of plans of areas being discussed. The plans were in the Highway Department garage, and the Planning Board was in the Town Hall.

One of these occasions was when Messrs. Arthur Smith and Ralph Newell of the NES Construction called, to discuss the future of a subdivision near the Woburn Street School.

Surface drainage for this subdivision will be through the 'ped-way' area, behind the school, and across the subdivision on Marcia Road extension.

It developed that the proposed ditch digging, by Mr. Tonello, the new owner of Marcia Road extension, had not been completed.

Smith and Newell were told that they could not do anything until the ditch was done, even though they had taken care of their part of the drainage situation. A letter had been sent to them on April 20th, they were told by Mr. Gillis, which stated this.

Roberts Road

Last week the Planning Board was visited by two men from the Western Realty Corp., the firm now owning land along Roberts Road.

Legal difficulties exist between the Western Company and a previous owner of land in the area, and a 'mountain' of gravel has been placed right in the middle of Roberts Road, to stop future development.

A letter was received this week, asking if the firm could continue to develop the property, up to the 'mountain'. It said that some of the residents of Roberts Road were in favor of having a 'dead end'.

Banda moved for a negative answer. He was seconded by Gillis. Miceli wanted to table the matter, because he wanted more information. Again the board was stymied because records were not present in the meeting room.

Miceli finally pressed for a vote on tabling the matter, and he lost. The board voted to answer Western, saying in effect, No.

Dave Newhouse

Dave Newhouse, of Boutwell Street, appeared with Larry O'Brien, a civil engineer.

Mr. Newhouse seeks to develop twenty acres of land, off Boutwell Street, and between Taft Road and Burlington Avenue, which could become about 30 house lots.

The two men wanted guidance, before they proceeded with their plans. The board gave them half an hour of their time.

ALL OUT FOR A CLEAN FOURTH OF JULY: Bob Peters, temporary Town Manager, will have ten highway trucks, and 16 men on the road all day next week, to clean up debris and junk and take it to the town dump.

The Clean Up Campaign starts Monday at 8 am, and lasts until Friday at 4 pm. Householders merely have to leave debris or junk by the driveway, and the town trucks will pick it up, Bob wants the town to have a Clean Fourth.

He is shown here with Mrs Margaret Wagstaff, a clerk in the Town Hall.

Insultab will pull stakes

Insultab, the company for which Ainsworth Road, in North Wilmington, was made back in 1961, is going to move.

John Zocchi, an official of the company confirmed the news Monday morning.

The company, he said, is going to move to a community where there is a better industrial climate, and the move will be made 'sometime this summer'.

Zocchi acquired control of the company last summer, and was intending to ask friends of his, who have similar small companies, to move to Ainsworth Road, where they could be together. He changed his mind, while the 'industrial tax' case of last fall was being fought.

In an interview with the Town Crier, Zocchi said he regarded the growing small companies, which were formed after the end of World War II as being the best thing for communities outside of the large cities to have. They grow with the towns, and yet, from the community standpoint, they are not powerful enough to exert undue influences upon the towns. Zocchi lamented the town's tax policy, saying that a company must be able to predict with some degree of certainty the future taxes it would have to pay, and that after last fall he felt this could not be done in Wilmington.

The building, 9,000 square feet in area, and completely hidden in the woods off Ainsworth Road, is now being advertised by a Boston firm as being available for rent, along with 20 acres of land which will be either rented or sold.

Laura Marland testimonial Sunday

Hundreds of Wilmington High School graduates, teachers and school and town officials are expected to be present, Sunday afternoon, in the High School, to honor Miss Laura N Marland, Wilmington teacher, who has retired after 46 years of service to the children of Wilmington.

The testimonial will begin at 2 pm, and last until 5 pm. There will be refreshments. Miss Marland is to be presented with a Gift of Appreciation.

Today is the last chance to buy tickets, which are selling at $2.50 each. They may be bought at the Bedell Brothers Insurance Agency in Wilmington Square, and at the Elia Country Market in North Wilmington.

HEAD START FLAG RAISING NEXT WEDNESDAY

Robert Peters, Temporary Town Manager, will officiate at a ceremony next Wednesday, at 10 am on the Common, which will signify that Wilmington has joined the White House in Operation Head Start.

A specially designed flag will be raised by Mr Peters in tribute to the many businessmen, doctors and housewives and teachers, and other volunteers who are making the project possible in Wilmington.

Past Chairman James Banda was the only one to vote against the final motion, saying that 'I see many problems - You'll see!' He also suggested getting quotes, from planners, as to the cost of such a schedule.

Sam Snow Hired

By unanimous vote, Consultant Sam Snow of Lexington was hired to be the Town's professional planner. Snow will work under the direction of the Planning Board, on such items as may be directed. He is currently completing a traffic and parking study for the Planning Board.

Banda wanted Snow hired for one year, but Danny Gillis persuaded his fellow members not to have a time limit. The final motion was by Gillis 'To utilize the services of Sam Snow, starting im-

Miceli felt that the 'air should be cleared' and pressed for a ruling from the Town Counsel directly to the Planning Board. He wanted definite answers to questions 'Is Bob Evans a member of the Planning Board?' and 'Can Bob Evans sign plans?'

Banda backed up Miceli. The vote was three to one, with Gillis voting against.

visited the board relative to the subdivision he owns in North Wilmington, on which construction was stopped some years ago by the construction of Route 33.

The board advised that the Town Counsel, on November 20, 1964, had stated that the plan "was still good".

The area is an "SRB" district (10,000 sq. ft. lots). Hamilton told the board that most of the lots were 15,000 to 20,000 square feet in area.

Again the board was embarrassed by the lack of maps in the Town Hall. Hamilton was told by Banda that he should come back sometime, possibly July 6th, with any maps and plans he might have.

No clues in robbery

Wilmington police are without clues, in a robbery which was reported to have taken place last Saturday evening.

Malcolm W. Seaman of Melrose, told the police at 11:11 pm that he had just been robbed by a gunman who had escaped in a car which was driven off in the direction of Lowell. Seaman is a co-owner of the Tulsa gas station, on Main Street, near the Wildcat railroad.

Seaman told the police he had arrived at the station at about 10:45 pm to count the day's receipts.

Steve Henderson, 18, of Beacon Street, employed as an attendant at the station, closed it up at 11 pm, washed his hands, and then left about five minutes later, with Seaman checking the accounts at that time.

Seaman told the police that he stepped out of the room at about 11:10 pm for a moment, and then stepped back in to find a young man of about 20 holding a gun. "This is a holdup!" Seaman quoted the young man as saying.

There was $1083.66 on the desk according to Seaman reported. The young man scooped up the bills and left the 66 cents. He walked to the door, and then ran to a car which was parked near the Wilmington Builder's Supply Co. driveway.

The car drove off towards Lowell. Presumably there was another person in the car, acting as the "get-away" driver. Seaman told the police he did not see the other person.

Fred Cain kills court stenographer bill

Rep. Fred Cain of Wilmington, last week, in the Legislature, succeeded in having a bill which would have cost the taxpayers a minimum of $2088 per day, 'sent back for reconsideration' - which is tantamount to 'killing' the bill.

The bill, known as House 3024, sought to amend the present statutes so that additional court stenographers would be employed in every court in the Commonwealth.

The bill had already been 'En-grossed, (passed) in the House. Cain brought it up again, as a member of the Committee on Counties, and told his fellow legislators that the Committee felt that if any consideration was to be given, it should be to the taxpayers.

In the same week Rep. Fred Cain, in the House, and Senator James Long, piloted a bill (House 1635) through the Legislature asking for additional court officers in the Woburn District Court.

The bill was originated by Rep. George Cantaloni of Woburn.

Cain told the Legislature that the work of the Woburn District Court had so increased that there were three sessions being held at one time, and that three court officers were needed as a result.

The Governor signed the bill on June 16th.

Cagy Sam almost has powder puff trouble

Many is the tale that has been told of Cagy Sam Ethier and his baseball career in Wilmington.

Cagy Sam did not play with the Silver Lake team of 1905, the team that travelled all over Eastern Massachusetts by street car, and defeated all comers, for two whole years.

But possibly he was in the Diaper Set at that time, wishing he could be a water boy for the Silver Lakes.

But this much is certain. Cagy has been in Wilmington baseball for many many years, and he has forgotten more tricks than the average player learns in a lifetime.

For years he was the Manager of the Townies, in softball.

In addition to the legitimate tricks of baseball, such as Distracting the Pitcher by Shouting, or the Misleading the Outfielder by Cautions, Sam had a lot of ideas that were slightly unorthodox, but which would bemuse the players on the other side, which was the idea anyway. Anything to win a game!

There was the Cagy Sam Scoring Stick idea. He broke a stick every time the opponents won a run, and there would be two piles of sticks, on each side of him, as he sat on the bench.

The opponents would become so entranced that they forgot what they were doing. That was the idea behind it all.

When the game was over Cagy would pick up the sticks, and divide by two. Voila! The score! It is so simple - except that the opponents couldn't quite figure out just

There was a discussion of the possibility of a Master Key system for all schools. Superintendent of Buildings Fred Jaeschke advocated this, but Michelson said that the 'lowest bidder system' made it virtually impossible to have all hardware 'matching' and Currier didn't like the idea of a master key system at all.

Michelson announced that a special meeting would be held at 4 pm Thursday, as arranged by Town Counsel Philip Buzzell, to set and establish the boundary of the old St. Thomas Church, and abuttor Timothy Kane.

A letter was submitted by Fred Jaeschke saying that a pile of rocks in back of the Woburn Street school was a temptation to vandalism, and also could lead to nicked blades in the power lawn mowers.

There is to be no meeting on July 5th. In the hope that the new boundaries of old St. Thomas will be established on Thursday the Library Trustees are being invited to attend a meeting three weeks from Monday. The rough plans may be completed by that time.

Currier moved to authorize the Town Counsel to finish up the Woburn Street school work. The meeting adjourned at 9:10 pm School Committee No baton twirlers in dear old Wilmington High?

At last Thursday night's meeting of the School Committee, the music program in the Wilmington Public Schools was reviewed for the committee by Domenic De Grazia, Director of Music, and Miss Lorraine Kallil, Music Supervisor.

A large part of the discussion was devoted to band problems. DeGrazia proposed that baton twirlers be eliminated from the high school band and that they be replaced by pennant bearers and color guards, the pennants to bear the colors and insignia of each unit of the band. He said that there is some feeling that the short skirts of the majorettes detract from the appearance of the band and that a color guard of approximately twelve would be 'more colorful and patriotic'. A detailed discussion followed with DeGrazia presenting pictures of the proposed pennants and flags the cost of which would be approximately $460.

Chairman Richard Keane felt that the School Committee 'should get a little public opinion before doing away with baton twirlers'. Committeeman Glen Connolly suggested that 'if the music department feels strongly enough about it, they should formulate a proposal to present to the committee'.

Music Scholarship

Regarding the annual Teachers Association scholarships, De Grazia reported to the committee that the music department would like to present one scholarship each year to a student who plans to major in music in college. He stated that a large part of the scholarship money comes from the music department because of royalties from 'Pushcart' and income from other musical performances.

Equipment Storage

The problem of storage space for band equipment was discussed at length with DeGrazia reporting that the present storage room beside the auditorium stage is also used as a dressing room and there is constant concern that expensive instruments will be damaged. Various suggestions were made, but no solution to the problem was reached. Committee man George Robertie felt that serious thought should be given to the construction of a music room in any future addition to the high school.

Band Rehearsals

The function and operation of the systemwide music program was reviewed by DeGrazia and Miss Kallil, with the problem of band rehearsals discussed in detail. Keane felt that the band should schedule more practice time, i.e. two rehearsals a week. DeGrazia agreed, but felt that there would be problems in getting students to attend more than one rehearsal a week.

Committeeman Arthur Lynch suggested that starting in September attendance at two rehearsals a week after school should be made mandatory for anyone who wished to be a member of the band, and that a pamphlet containing a list of band regulations should be sent home to parents of all potential band members.

Keane asked how often the music teachers visit the elementary schools and Miss Kallil answered that the current schedule provides for one visit to each classroom every four weeks. Superintendent Shea stated that because there are only four music teachers for 4100 youngsters there is a problem of time. Keane asked how many more music teachers would be needed to make possible one visit every two weeks and was told that two additional people would be necessary.

The present music program should be enlarged, Keane said, to provide more frequent visits. Connolly stated that he 'would like to see more accomplished in the area of music appreciation' with a 'good solid theoretical music course', and felt that the 'balance should be changed drastically' i.e. performance vs. appreciation. De Grazia agreed that it is important to give children a 'knowledge of what is good and what is bad', so that they are able to analyze music. Keane questioned the possibility of starting a school orchestra using string instruments, but was told by DeGrazia that it would be very difficult to develop such a program in Wilmington because there are too few private teachers in this area.

Head Start Program

Harold Driscoll, Director of the Head Start Program, reported that the organization is almost completely set up and ready to operate and that the women who will be teaching this summer have been attending comprehensive workshops at Tufts. Five young women have volunteered to donate their time to the program as part of an in-service training project and other volunteers will be recruited later. The School Committee thanked Driscoll for his successful efforts in setting up the program in a limited period of time and voted to approve the organization of the paid staff as presented. Future volunteer personnel will be approved by the director and Superintendent Shea.

Miss Marland Tribute

After brief discussion with Principal Bernard McMahon, the committee voted to procure an aluminum panel with Miss Marland's name inscribed on it and a plagued portrait of the teacher to be used for the Laura N. Marland library.

New Microscopes

Bids for twenty new microscopes were opened and discussed. Because of wide price differences in the bids, the committee requested that the science department examine the microscopes, review the bids and make recommendations to Superintendent Shea.

George Robertie requested that in the future copies of bids be sent to the members of the School Committee in advance of the meetings.

Future School Sites

Supt. Shea reported that the site work has been completed at the North Intermediate School and the Boutwell Street School, and that site clearing is now taking place at the West Intermediate School. He also said that the Permanent Building Committee is currently investigating sites for a future school in the Hopkins Street area, and land needs for additions to the High School and the Woburn Street School.

The Selectmen's Meeting$64 a day for outside Assessing work

Principal Assessor Fred Grimes, Monday night, told the Board of Selectmen that the town of Wilmington was paying $64 a day to a Mr. and Mrs. Russell, of Andover, for assisting in the assessment program of Wilmington. Grimes, under questioning by Selectman Paul Niles, told the board that Mr. Russell received $32 for eight hours work, and Mrs. Russell received $32 for eight hours work and that the work was done at home.

Mrs. Russell, he said, had a problem in that there was a small child, and two other children.

Mr. Russell is a professional assessor, employed by the Town of Andover.

Grimes said that the Russell's had to be employed to make mathematical computations at home, on front lot units - and this was relative to the 'depth factor'. As described by Grimes, the work was rather technical, and he went on to say that he could 'train a girl - but it would take two years - and he would have to watch her continually'.

The situation, in which the Principal Assessor was making his report to the Selectmen, developed as a result of an order of several weeks past, in which Grimes was told that he could not take any assessing records out of town.

He was in the Selectmen's meeting in an effort to get that order rescinded - and so that Mr. and Mrs. Russell could get the materials to do their work for the town.

If the order was not rescinded, Grimes said, the town would have to buy extra equipment, and the work would cost twice as much.

Niles asked Grimes if he were doing any outside work, such as that which had been described for Mr. Russell. Grimes said that he had done such work. Niles went on to ask if Grimes was doing any such work now - and Grimes answered 'No'.

The Selectmen voted three to nothing to rescind the order, with Niles abstaining (Bender had not yet appeared at the meeting).

Other Questions

Niles also had questions concerning the revaluation program on taxable property, and the probable date of announcing the tax rate.

Grimes told the Selectmen, under Niles questioning, that the assessors were revaluing land in residential areas, but that he expected only about 20% of the work to be done this year, before the tax rate would be announced.

After the tax rate had been announced, Grimes said, he would proceed with revaluing other real estate in town, for the following year's tax rate.

Grimes told the Selectmen that he expected the tax rate would be announced at about August first. Niles wanted to know what the hold up was, and Grimes said that they had an extra work load. He reminded Niles that there had been a considerable delay last fall, because of the tax problems.

Niles asked him if he had 'any feel' for change in value of residential properties, and Grimes stated in effect that some was not being changed at all, and some as much as twenty times in value.

A. P. Rounds

A. P. Rounds, of Stoneham, developer of Hathaway Acres, appeared before the board to talk over a problem concerning his 'back property', behind Hathaway Acres.

Elevations there, he told the Selectmen, were as high as 130 feet above sea level, and he wanted the grade to be at about 80 feet. He wanted to construct a street which would be about 35 feet below the summit of a hill, and was running into a problem, because this meant gravel removal.

The Board of Health, he said, would not give him permits to build before he had 'perculation tests' in the soil, and he couldn't have the perculation tests until after he had removed the gravel, and further, he could not remove the gravel until he had a permit to build.

Selectman Charles Black asked if, under the zoning laws, Rounds would be permitted to move gravel from one place to another. There was no immediate answer, but later Minot Anderson, Building Inspector, said that he has given permits before to move gravel for landscaping.

Danny Gillis, of the Planning Board, an interested spectator, said that the removal of gravel for landscaping purposes has been done, but he suggested that there be a definition of what this means. He recalled a proposal on Aldrich Road, which, he said, was planned to be the removal of gravel before real estate development. He had been prepared at that time, if necessary to go to the courts to get a definition.

Selectman LaRivee piped up to say that here had been an operation on Concord Street that started that way, and ended up as a gravel operation.

Anderson suggested that the removal, for Mr. Rounds, be limited to 20,000 cubic yards, and Mrs. Drew told Rounds to make out an application and the Selectmen will act on it next Monday night.

Austin Rounds

Austin Rounds of Butters Row, Chairman of the Planning Board, and Secretary Danny Gillis had several items they wanted to talk about, with the Selectmen.

The first was the new proposed Parking Regulations, prepared by Planner Sam Snow, of Lexington.

The second concerned the 'expired term' of Bob Evans, veteran member of the Planning Board.

The third item was 'What room will the Planning Board be using?'

Parking Regulations

The proposed parking regulations would have to be accepted by the town, and would comprise an addition to Chapter 7 of the Town's By Laws. Each of the Selectmen was given a copy of the proposal, which defined such things as driveways, distances, curbs, etc., with widths and locations, maximum sizes, and conditions, and ended with a proposal that there be a fine of $100 for persons or firms violating the new amendment.

The Planning Board wanted to meet with the Selectmen on June 28th to discuss the proposal. They also wanted the Chamber of Commerce to be present.

Mr. Niles reminded the board that there would be two hearings on June 28th, so the Selectmen decided to have a special meeting on June 29th.

Gus Cronin has guests from Columbia

Dan Cronin Jr., president of the MacBick Company of Woburn St. and Anthony Faunce of the John C. Paige Insurance Co. were hosts, last Wednesday to a delegation of 14 distinguished Columbians. The two men are members of the Mass. Committee, of the Partnership for Progress. The Columbians, educators and businessmen, were returning a visit made to their country last December, by 'Gus' Cronin and friends to the province of Antioquia, in Columbia - a province noted for the vigor, industry and ingenuity of its people.

The guided tour of 'electronics row' made by the party included stops at Sanborn Co. Waltham; North West Industrial Park in Burlington, High Voltage Engineering, and the North Eastern University Campus in Burlington. Mrs. Anita Blanco, Town Crier correspondent, who lived for many years in Columbia, was a member of the party.

In High Voltage the party was addressed by Dr. Denis M. Robinson, president, in both Spanish and English. A movie was shown explaining briefly the theories that led to the development and uses of the fabulous machines made by High Voltage.

Dr. Robinson accompanied the group, in their tour through the plant. One of the Columbians remarked that a tremendous amount of training would be necessary to prepare workers in his country for such high-level industry. Education would have to come first.

At Northeastern University the group was greeted by President Asa Knowles. Dr. Knowles outlined the strides Northeastern had made to be of maximum service to society, and how the University was meeting the needs of both youth and adults, - an institution of lofty ideals, but with its feet on the ground.

The address was much appreciated by the Columbians. Dr. Alberto Jaramillo Sanchez thanked Dr. Knowles for his cooperation in strengthening the Partnership for Progress. He said that the service provided by Northeastern U. should be a prototype for educational development in Columbia.

Dr. Sanchez hoped that the Small Business Associations of Columbia can teach better business practices and stimulate more and more the educational facilities to train workers for their skills and abilities.

The Small Business Association of Antioquia has already made progress, he said, in training workers including some night courses. All the members of the Columbian Partnership for Progress delegation had made personal contributions, a large sum of money, for the well known Industrial School of Medellin, (in the capital of Antioquia).

Dr. Sanchez discussed, as an interesting possibility, the sending of American professors and teachers to teach along with the Columbians in their schools. Such a program has been started by Cornell, with excellent results.

There was also talk of initiating Columbian credit rating bureaus to supply American firms with accurate information concerning credit ratings. Since the last war the European companies have captured the South American market, in many instances, because the Europeans are more lenient in giving credit to their customers. A Columbian sugar refinery owner who wanted to modernize and enlarge, bought his machinery from a German manufacturer who offered a three year period to pay for high quality machinery, at a lower rate of interest. The price was at a lower price than the lowest American bid, and the American firm requested full payment in advance.

The manufacturer was educated in the United States, and preferred American machinery. This, the discussion at Northeastern said, was only one out of thousands of cases.

There were refreshments at 5 pm on the campus, after which the party were dinner guests in Lowell at LTL.

The Columbian party who were guests of Cronin and Faunce included Mrs. Elena Baraya de Ospina, a chic blonde society matron who devotes her time to civic projects, Gabriel Angel, prominent Antioquian industrialist; Dr. Alberto Jaramillo Sanchez, president of the Patriotic Society of Antioquia, and former Governor and Senator; Dr. Jorge Restrepo Uribe, executive of the Antioquian Development Institute; Vincente Uribe, banker; Ivan Corres Arango, banker; Juan Rafael Cardenas, vice president of the Columbian Tobacco Company; Cesar Montoya, industrialist; Dr. Javier Mesa, representing the public utilities of Medellin; Jorge Alberto Uribe, representing the mayor of Rio Negro, an Antioquian town whose American sister town is Concord (Mass.); Dr. Ignacio Velez, former rector of the University of Antioquia; Dr. Alberto Vazquez Lalinde, who was recipient of an honorary degree from LTL last June; Alberto Delgado, banker; and Ernesto Satazabel, industrialist.

Tradesmen have won eight out of nine

The Wilmington Tradesmen surged from behind against tough North Cambridge on Tuesday night to win their eighth game out of the last nine. The final score was 5-3.

Peter Emery, headed for Colby College in the fall, proved to be the star of the game. In the 2nd inning, he threw out a man trying to go from first to third on a single, and, in the fateful 8th inning he knocked in the tying and winning runs with his second hit of the game.

Kevin Field and North Andover's Rich Robinson shared the pitching duties and both pitched well. Kevin allowed just one run through six innings. When he got into trouble in the 7th, Robbie came in to relieve. The first batter grounded a hit through the drawn-in infield, but then he bore down to strike out the next two hitters. The Tradesmen rallied for four runs in the top of the 8th and Robbie preserved the win by setting North Cambridge down 1, 2, 3 in their half.

Two games with slow-starting but formidable Wakefield feature next week's schedule. It will be remembered that Wakefield won against Wilmington 4-2 in the home opener and the Tradesmen will be looking for revenge. Pete Emery now has 9 hits in his last 3 games. If a muscle strain permits, Eddie Foley will pitch for the Tradesmen at Wakefield on Sunday.

10:00-10:45 Second Worship Service - 'Church in the Wildwood'.

Church in the Wildwood is an out-of-doors service in the recently created chapel under the trees adjacent to the church parking lot. This outside worship service was originated only last summer and has been extremely popular with both members and visitors.

The mark of the summer series is informality. Men are urged to 'leave the coats and ties at home'. Women are invited to worship in casual comfort too. Summer visitors will receive a special welcome. Their home towns will be represented by a map in the 'Friendship Map'.

During the last four summers almost every state of the union has been marked on the Friendship Map. Visitors have also come from such places as Japan, China and England.

The nursery will be open at all services. Ministers of the church are: Rev. Terry Clay Thomason, Rev. Willard C. Arnold, and Rev. Peter Day Hanson.

THE SELECTMEN'S MEETING

Planning Board, occupied the attention of Rounds and Gillis, the Selectmen, and the Temporary Town Manager, for over half an hour, but intermittently.

The previous Town Manager, Gerald Bouchard, had written a letter to Mr. Evans, who had served a total of 13 years on the Planning Board, and told that Evans would not be reappointed, when his term expired. Bouchard had appointed another person to take Evans' place, on June 16th. Then he left for Michigan, on May 28th, and the Selectmen, led by Niles, questioned the validity of the acts of the previous Town Manager.

The Town Counsel's answer (Town Crier June 17th) had left the door open, at least to a degree, to the retaining of Evans on the Planning Board, and to this all the Selectmen agreed. They nodded their heads and beamed.

TM Bob Peters didn't nod his head. He shook it instead, a distinct 'No', and then finally, in a diffident manner, he spoke up.

Peters asked if there was a definite date of expiration for the appointment of Evans. He was told 'Yes - June 15th - but sometimes appointments carry over if there has been no new appointment'.

Peters observed that if there was a specific time he could not see how Evans could legally continue.

Black suggested that they get an opinion from the Town Counsel. Niles, at this time, told Peters that he was repeating a phrase he had used before, and asked that Mr. Peters refrain from making any appointment, because the incoming Town Manager should have the courtesy of appointing people who were to serve under him. Niles said he had made this suggestion to the previous Town Manager, and it had been misinterpreted.

After the discussion on meeting room and storage of records (see below) Rounds and Gillis left the meeting room to talk with the Town Counsel on the telephone. They returned long enough to pass a note to the Chairman, Mrs. Drew, which said in effect that Evans should continue on the board until there had been a replacement appointed, and that if anyone challenged this the Town Counsel would handle the challenge when it appeared.

Meeting Room

Gillis did most of the talking about a place for the Planning Board to meet, and a place for them to keep their records.

He told the Selectmen that the Planning Board used to keep their records down in the cellar, in the Town Engineer's office, and then 'they disappeared'.

Mrs. Drew observed that the 'Town Engineer disappeared too'. (The records, and the Town Engineer had been moved to the Highway Department Building, off Andover Street, by Bouchard, in late May, Ed.)

Black said the Town Engineer shouldn't have moved. There was a suggestion, about this time, that the Planning Board meet up in the Highway Department garage. Niles, responding to Black, said that perhaps it was alright, because the Town Engineer works with the Highway Department.

Gillis felt that it was not a good idea for the Planning Board to meet in the Highway Department garage. He said that when the board had been meeting in the various rooms of the Town Hall he had sometimes felt ashamed of the quarters, when important persons came to the Town Hall on business. He felt that the Town Garage was not the place.

The Selectmen finally decided that they could find room for files, in the Town Hall, and directed Peters to expedite the business. The meeting place of the Planning Board was not definitely decided, but rather left hanging in the air, with the Town Hall seeming to be the place for future meetings.

Angie's Baby Beach

For over half an hour, the Selectmen, Angelo Sorrentino of Lowell, various residents of Grove Avenue and Cottage Street, and Felice Vitale expressed opinions, etc., on the operations of Baby Beach, at Silver Lake, by Mr. Sorrentino.

ANGIE AND FRIENDS: Angelo Sorrentino at the Selectmen's table and Paul MacQuaid speaking.

Mr. Sorrentino had come to the Selectmen's meeting to apply for a license for a show he proposed to have performed on his beach.

His neighbors came to the Selectmen's meeting not to talk about the show, but to talk about their neighbor.

Sorrentino told the Selectmen, in a general discussion, that the boats he had had last year had all been smashed during the winter by persons unknown to him.

The discussion ended with the Selectmen refusing to grant a permit for Mr. Sorrentino to conduct a 'show' which he proposed, at Silver Lake, and further they ordered that the Zoning Officer, (Minot Anderson) prepare a report through the Town Manager, on the zoning of the Silver Lake area, adjacent to Main Street and Grove Avenue, and to determine whether or not the use of the property conforms to the Zoning By Law.

Sorrentino, who had purchased the beach a year ago, from Tom McQuaid, and who had been in arguments before with abutters who objected to the use of the beach for commercial purposes, had a long tale for the Selectmen.

In proposing the 'show', he told them that he had spent thousands of dollars, that he had cleaned up a lot of the lake front, taken out logs, brought in forty loads of sand, and added an impassioned plea that he 'loved the place'.

His opponents included Paul McQuaid (no relation to Tom) Mrs. Joseph Slater, Mrs. Chester Howe, Chester Howe and Mrs. James Field.

Each of them spoke of the 'nuisances' they were experiencing, and Mrs. Slater had excerpts of previous hearings, before the Board of Appeals, etc., dating back to 1949.

Sorrentino, at one point, said that there was enough space on the beach for two thousand people to be seated.

The opponents exhibited a copy of the Lowell Sun, with a two inch advertisement, purportedly placed there by Sorrentino, advertising that the beach was open. They also had photographs of cars parked etc., which they showed the Selectmen, and told of their problems in this direction.

Danny Gillis, an interested spectator, after studying the zoning by laws, said that no show could be conducted in a Neighborhood Business Zone, which zone seemed to be applicable to the area.

The Selectmen voted unanimously against the show, and asked again that the Town Zoning be determined.

Sorrentino left the meeting saying that he was not licked.

Polio Clinic

A letter from the town Public Health Officer advised that there would be no polio clinics during the summer months, on advice of the Public Health physician, Dr. Gerald Fagan.

Gas Station

A communication asked for a license for a gas station at the site of the burned down Parker's Restaurant, on Main Street. The date of July 12th was set for the hearing.

TM'S Report

Bob Peters reported that the Grove Avenue property, about which Niles had been asking, is undergoing foreclosure proceedings, and that he prefers not to take action until the proceedings had taken effect.

He had had no reply, he said, from the County Commissioners for the 'hearing' on Burlington Avenue. The Selectmen had been hoping to have a 'hearing' Thursday night, but tentatively postponed it one week, July 1st, at 8 pm, in the Boutwell School. Selectman Black suggested that the Town Engineer drive stakes along Burlington Avenue, so that the residents would have an idea of the proposed 'taking', and Peters was instructed to see that this be done. Approximately 70 abutters are involved.

Peters said that the town had 'finished one round' on mosquito spraying and will start again. Every street in town had had a spraying, the last being Cook Avenue.

Another 'traffic count' is being done on Lowell and West Streets, Peters said. It developed that an opinion of the Town Counsel had been received, relative to the town's paying of damages for the proposed 'taking', and it was read with interest by Paul Niles.

There was a long discussion about a street light which had been requested by Joseph Frizzi, of Salem Street, could be erected. Ken Gaw, of the Reading Light, had advised Bob Peters that a light at the point suggested would be in order.

LATEST LETTER ON LOWELL STREET

A letter, from the Town Counsel to Mrs. Drew, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen, is the latest on Lowell Street. It was written on June 14th, and was signed by the Town Counsel, Philip Buzzell. Dear Mrs. Drew:

I have read over the material you sent in to me in regard to the proposed Lowell Street widening, which you mentioned on the telephone the other evening.

It seems to me that you should answer Mr. Mistretta's letter of June 2nd and soon as possible, making it clear to him that the Selectmen have not 'acknowledged the town's responsibility for the landtaking and municipal utility relocation cost'. Obviously the Selectmen would have no authority to do this without a vote of the town, and I do not recall any town vote on this matter.

Zip makes his first arrest

'Zip' the first of the two police dogs acquired by the Wilmington Police Department this spring, made his first arrest early Saturday morning, up in the Gowing Acres section of town.

A family in that area were entertaining friends from East Boston, and the party was noisy and long. Finally, at the Police Station, there were complaints about the noise.

Sgt. Ellsworth dispatched a cruiser, and, as a precaution, also dispatched Officer Jay Palmer and Zip.

When the cruiser arrived, several youths took off for the woods, and three hid under cars, expecting not to be discovered.

Zip was ordered into the woods by Palmer, and he soon flushed out the three young men. Then those under the cars were warned that they should come out. They didn't.

So Zip was sent under the cars, after the boys. The surprised young men, face to face with a police dog, decided that discretion was better than valor, and surrendered.

Two of them, James Goggin and Robert Feeney, both of East Boston, paid $200 fines, in Woburn Court, Tuesday morning. Lt. Imbimbo presented the police department case, without the aid of Zip, this time.

Camp scholarship for two

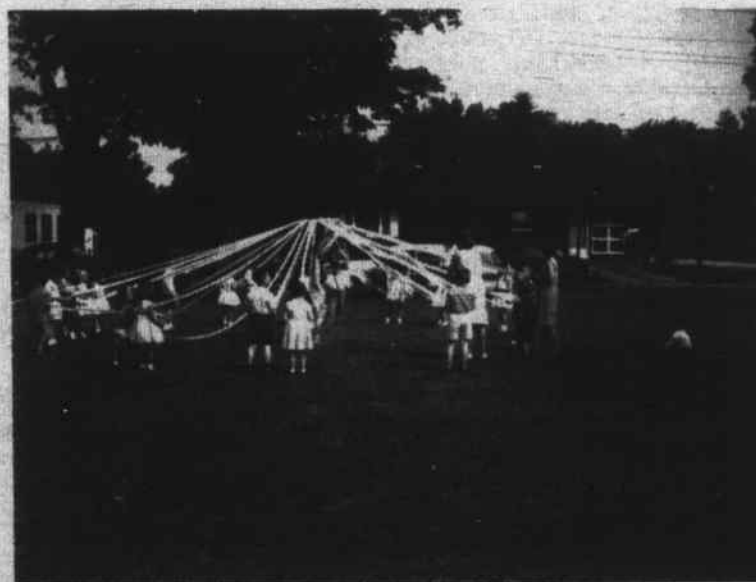

The Wilmington Conservation Commission has announced the selection of two boys to attend a two-week session at the Massachusetts Junior Conservation Camp. The camp is directed by the Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game, of the Department of Natural Resources, and Massachusetts Conservation, Inc. It is located at the Worcester County 4-H Center, on Thompson's Pond in the Spencer State Forest.

The camp is designed to give basic training in conservation of natural resources, and outdoor recreation, to a selected group of tomorrow's leaders. The campers learn about fisheries and water conservation, soil conservation, and forestry and wildlife management, and the outdoor skills of fishing, boating and safety, plus the shooting sports of archery, rifle and shotgun handling.

Kenneth Sevens, 395 Middlesex Avenue, and Edmund J Corcoran, 524 Woburn Street have been named. Ken is a senior year student at the Essex County Agricultural and Technical Institute in Danvers. He raises many animals. In his back yard, engages in family camping and canoe trips and works part time and summers in the Allgrove Nursery on Woburn Street.

Ed is a sophomore at Wilmington High School, and has been a Boy Scout for four years. He is a Star Scout and has attended scout camp during 3 summers. An avid fisherman, he is interested in hunting, boating and tenting.

THE LITTLE BOY WHO WOULDN'T: The Story Hours, conducted by the Wilmington Public Library, were concluded for the spring session, a week ago, with a May Pole, which was set up on the Common.

A little boy, three or four years old, joined the other children as they set off across Middlesex Avenue, to dance around the Maypole, but then refused to take part in the festivities. He may be seen sitting, at the right side of the picture.

The Maypole was conducted by Mrs Henry Hoercher and Mrs Theodore McKie, both of whom have been 'readers' at the Story Hour.
